

WORLD HERITAGE DAY (18TH APRIL, 2024)

On World Heritage Day (18th April, 2024), P. Obul Reddy Public School hosted a memorable event, inviting esteemed guests Padmashree Shri Gajam Anjaiah Garu and Y. Venkanna Netha, founder of Handloom Day. The event aimed to celebrate and promote the rich heritage of handloom weaving.

One of the highlights of the event was the interactive session where students had the opportunity of a hands-on experience with a traditional handloom and charka. This hands-on activity allowed participants to appreciate the intricacies of weaving first hand.

The event also showcased a stunning collection of sarees, each of which has earned national awards for their craftsmanship and heritage significance. These sarees served as tangible reminders of the beauty and artistry of India's handloom tradition.

Padmashree Shri Gajam Anjaiah Garu was felicitated during the event by our Principal, Ms. K. Vinitha for his significant contributions to preserving and promoting handloom culture. In his address, he emphasized the importance of preserving traditional handloom techniques in the face of synthetic fabric proliferation. He highlighted the environmental and societal benefits of using handloom fabrics, stressing how synthetic fibers contribute to environmental degradation and health issues.

The session was not only informative but also interactive, allowing students to engage directly with the speakers and gain valuable insights into traditional weaving practices. Through this event, attendees were encouraged to appreciate and support the rich heritage of handloom weaving, ensuring its preservation for future generations. The session was concluded with the vote of thanks by Vice-Principal, Ms. Nagaveena.

Our ancestry is a reminder of our history. It is a national treasure and a sign of the civilization's pride. DDMS. P. Obul Reddy Public School observed World Heritage Day on April 18, 2024. Primary school students were introduced to the concept of national history through a variety of activities such as poster making and role play. Children dressed in traditional garb delivered speeches on our Indian heritage, how it has been passed down through generations, and how it should be preserved. The students enthusiastically researched heritage monuments. It was a thrill to see such active engagement in presenting beautiful charts, posters and much more to learn. The significance of preserving legacy, whether cultural or monumental, was highlighted. We must give the appropriate platform for our children to learn more about our history and culture in order to become more responsible and efficient citizens.
